

Nan Yi Golf Country Club

Nan Yi Golf Country Club started business in 1991 and was taken over by Tong Yang Group and Ta Yih Group in 1998. The new management has made lots of enhancements on both software and hardware facilities, and the service quality of the course is highly applauded.

The restaurant of the course is beautiful and is famous for the unique creative cuisines using local specialty ingredients. The Half-way houses are also special featured; they aim to provide an excellent cup of coffee and a casual European style afternoon tea break. The art of coffee will let you not only forget the bogie but also lead you away from the work pressures.

Nan Yi Golf Country Club is a rare flat course among other hilly courses in Taiwan, designed by famous Japanese designer Watanabe Hiro. The course is a standard golf course of par 72 with 58 bunkers and 11 lakes, total length of 7256 yards. The unique dual greens increase the varieties of the course. Several holes were designed as dog-leg right with green surrounded by deep grass to prevent from bouncing onto greens.

Nan-Yi has attracted many international visitors especially from Japan and Korea. The perfect location which is only 5KM to High Speed Rail station has set Nan-Yi a “must play” course for foreign tourists.
